"Olympic Spirit"

Fifth Annual Rochester Country Fair

The Rochester Country Fair will be celebrating its fifth anniversary this weekend. The theme for this year's celebration is "Olympic Spirit" and the schedule of events promises to be bigger and better than ever. Following are some of the highlights of this year's celebration. Unless otherwise noted, all events will take place at the Plumb Corner Mall across from the Rochester Town Hall.

Friday, August 20

• 5:00 pm – Woodsman Show at Plumb Corner Mall: A weekend of activities will kick off with the ever-popular Woodsman Show. Participants are asked to arrive by 4:00 pm and events will include chainsaw, chopping, axe throwing, two-person cross-cut, log rolling, bow sawing, disc stacking, and spring board. This is a rain or shine event.

Saturday, August 21

• 9:00 am to 2:00 pm – Car Cruise on First Congregational Church Green: Car enthusiasts are welcome to cruise and display their antique cars, 1972 and older models, at the fair's Car Cruise. The entrance gate will be on the Library Road off Route 105, directly across from the Plumb Corner Plaza. The entrance to the car cruise will be open from 9:00 am with Dash Plaques, donated by Goyette's, Inc. of New Bedford, given to the first 100 cars to arrive. Parking at the car cruise will be at your own risk and all cars will need to be off the green at 2:00 pm. For more information, please call Keith Goettlich at 508-763-2350.

• 10:00 am to 4:00 pm – Massachusetts Freemasons CHIP (Child Identification Program).

Above: Painter Gerard Curtis Delano, a western artist with Marion roots, will be the subject of a special exhibit at this weekend's Twelfth Annual Marion Antiques Show at Tabor Academy. Mr. Delano loved to paint Indians riding horses from his early years while attending school in Marion, including Tabor Academy.

On the cover: This scenic view of Eastover Farm in Rochester was taken and submitted in a photo contest sponsored by the Rochester Historical Society, which will be just one of the many local organizations represented this weekend at the Fifth Annual Rochester Country Fair at Plumb Corner Mall in the town center. The weekend festivities will include plenty of food, fun and frolic, including the ever-popular Woodsman Show on Friday, August 20; the Bon Fire and Block Dance with The Relics on Saturday, August 21; and an "Olympic Spirit" Theme Parade on Sunday, August 22. (Photo by Naida Parker, courtesy of Rochester Historical Society).

Above: One of the many unique displays seen at last year's Marion Antiques Show. The twelfth annual venture to benefit the Sippican Historical and Preservation Society will take place on Saturday and Sunday, August 21 and 22, from 11:00 am to 5:00 pm each day at Tabor Academy in Marion. Some 70 antique dealers are expected to attend. (Photo courtesy of Frank McNamee).

Gerard Curtis Delano: Western Artist with Marion Roots

By Judith Rosbe

Artist Gerard "Jerry" Curtis Delano (1890-1972), an important western artist, was born in Marion, MA. His parents, Captain Robert Graham Delano and Amanda Luce Delano, came from families connected with the whaling industry. The Delanos are a noted Massachusetts family which includes Franklin Delano Roosevelt among its descendants. Robert Delano was the captain of the bark, the Gerard Tobey, which was owned by Gerard Curtis of Wareham. Robert and Amanda named their only child after Gerard Curtis.

When Mr. Delano was five years old, his father left the family and became a prospector in the Alaskan Klondike Gold Rush. Mr. Delano and his mother lived with Grandmother Luce, who was a widow. When Jerry was five, he started school in Marion and his talent as an artist was recognized at a young age. He loved to paint Indians riding horses with his mother's watercolors. Painting Native Americans became a lifelong obsession of his.

Jerry Delano spent most of his childhood alone and felt different from other children his age, because his father was absent. He spent a lot of time drawing to amuse himself. He attended Tabor Academy, which was free for Marion children, and decided that he would like to make his living by being an artist. He submitted a pen-and-ink drawing to a children's magazine, St. Nicholas, and was thrilled that his drawing was published. The Marion town librarian, Mary Allen, praised him for the drawing and encouraged him to become an artist for a career.

Mr. Delano began to study art at the Swain Free School of Design in New Bedford. Later he moved to New York City and continued his studies at the Art Students League, which was considered one of the best art schools of the time. Then after serving in the Navy in World War I, he headed west, arriving in Denver, Colorado in June, 1919.

He began a successful career as a magazine cover artist and illustrator for many Western magazines. His favorite subjects were the Navajos. In 1936, Mr. Delano entered into a contract with Street and Smith publishers to do a series of drawings for Western Story magazine under the title, "Story of the West."

While most of Mr. Delano's art is collected in the West, the Sippican Historical Society and the Elizabeth Taber Library in Marion each own one of Delano's works. In 1980, Dr. Everett Waters of Marion donated an oil painting by Mr. Delano titled "Canyon Riders Navajos" to the Sippican Historical Society. The back of the painting is dated 1943 and lists Gerard Curtis Delano's address as 31 E. 18th Avenue, Denver, CO. In 1981, Mr. Delano's cousin, Lovicy M. Delano, of Marion donated one of his water-color paintings to the Elizabeth Taber Library in Marion. The watercolor, titled "Where Eagles Soar," pictures a view from the top of Eagle Nest Mountain, a natural habitat of the golden eagle.

Gerard Curtis Delano is remembered as a remarkable painter of the western canyon country, its horses and riders and the Navajo people. Many regard his work as favorably compared to artists Frederick Remington and

Wild Baby Birds

I found a baby bird on the ground, what should I feed it?

Baby birds are frequently found near their nests. If the bird has no feathers, try to find the nest and put the bird back. If the bird is mobile and feathered, keep dogs and cats from the area and the mother bird will probably feed and care for it.

I thought that if I touched the bird that the mother would smell my scent and would reject the baby. That's an old wives tale as birds have poor senses of smell. Allowing the mother to raise the young increases their chance of survival.

"Rubber Ducky Day" in Mattapoisett. According to proponents Ann Mello and Sue Hottel, legend has it that the Hagen brothers designed the rubber ducky in the basement of one of their homes on Hammond Street in Mattapoisett. "When their toy business became very successful, they built a toy factory at 34 Barstow Street. Many local residents remember relatives that worked in this factory," according to a letter from Ms. Mello and Ms. Hottel, who are planning to have a Rubber Ducky hunt, a race, and other events to commemorate the day. All proceeds would be turned back to the community and/or donated to charity. The suggested slogan for the day is: "Columbus discovered America and the Hagen brothers discovered the Rubber Ducky."

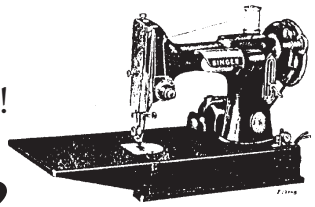

At 7:00 pm the board met with ORR School Superintendent Dr. William Cooper to discuss the recently-awarded school bus contract and the budget outlook for Mattapoisett in the coming fiscal year.

"We wanted to go over the major numbers with you," Dr. Cooper said. "First, the school is struggling to put on programs with $90,000 less than was passed at the Annual Town Meeting. Second, although it's terrific that we're going to be able to open Center School (this fall) ... the $200,000 (allocated) is $50,000 short of what we thought we were going to need. The third assault on this budget has to do with this latest round of bus contract bidding. We have a bus contract which is going to work ... but, it's $74,000 overbudget for the K-6 portion ... in Mattapoisett (and) Marion."

Dr. Cooper told the board that the School Committee voted at its most recent meeting to use the estimated $95,000 in interest available from the Barstow School Fund to supplement this year's school budget and they plan to return about $115,000 to town coffers in unused Special Education funding for Fiscal Year 2004. Despite this, they are still about $214,000 short of their projected expenses.

The news didn't sit well with Selectman Lombard, who noted that the town's finances look even bleaker for FY 2006.

"The town voted to take money out of Stabilization Fund to support (the opening of Center School and) that money is not going to be there at the start of 2005," Selectman Lombard said. "We are looking at at least a $400,000 (shortfall) in revenue."

Selectman Lombard was concerned that not only will the town not be able to put the $200,000 used for Center School back into its Stabilization Fund next year, but they will now have to make up the additional $214,000 school budget shortage.

"That (money) will have to come from Free Cash," Selectman Lombard said. "I do have a problem with the kind of thing that is going on here. We went before Town Meeting ... (with) a need for a $259,000 override to open Center School ... and it was taken out of the Stabilization Fund."

"We need to know if we're going to have to make additional cuts (or) charge bus fees, and the like," Dr. Cooper said. "What we were looking for tonight was to see if there is support (from the board) and ... where the town would be in October and November."

"We do anticipate having additional revenue in the fall," Selectman Lombard said. "But how much support I can lend to it I can't say until I see the numbers. I'm not saying I wouldn't support it ... (but) we need to do something for our employees in this town. In addition to that, I, for one, am going to support replacing the ambulance. It's broken down on several occasions."

Chairman Andrews said the estimated cost for a replacement, fully-equipped ambulance is around $150,000.

"It looks like there's nothing going back into the Stabilization Fund," Selectman Lombard said. "I, for one, have to wait and see what I can and can't support."

"We really need to see where we stand and we won't have our certified receipts for a while," Selectman Collyer agreed.

"What's important to know is what this $90,000 (shortfall) will mean in terms of cuts in programs," Chairman Andrews added. "People need to know what may have to be cut."

At 7:35 pm the board met with Arnold J. Cestari to conduct a hearing upon his request to modify a Class II license for his internet-based used car business based at 3 Upland Way.

"When you first applied for a Class II license, it was our understanding there would be no vehicles stored onsite and it would be an internet business," Chairman Andrews said.

"We're trying to support businesses in town, but after a period of time it seemed to go in a different direction and there were cars there with 'for sale' signs," Selectman Lombard added. "Even though our Town Administrator spoke to you, there seemed to be no explanation or reason given to this board. I must be honest with you, I supported the license because it was an internet business. I don't feel it's a place where a used car operation should be."

According to Mr. Cestari, however, he is requesting a modification of his original Class II license because after a State Police inspector came to examine the site, he was told he needed to have at least two cars "on display" in order to obtain dealer's license plates.

"My business, for the most part, is going to be internet-based," Mr. Cestari said. "(But) the state inspector said I could not receive dealer plates without vehicles on the premises. It's not my intention to store cars there, but I do need to keep them on display in order to have dealer plates."

"The only reason the state showed up is you applied for dealer plates," Selectman Lombard countered. "It was always my understanding that cars were going to be ... delivered to your property and people were going to go there and pick them up. But your application for dealer's plates precipitated that. If it was strictly an internet-based business, you wouldn't need dealer plates."

"It really has the apperance of a used car lot," Chairman Andrews said, producing photographs that were taken at various times since June. "We had an agreement with you that there would be no cars stored onsite."

To clarify, Town Counsel Greg Korbo said that the town issues the Class II used car dealership license but had no bearing on the state-issued dealer's plates. "In order to qualify for a state license, you need to get a Class II license from the town," Mr. Korbo said. "Mr. Cestari was issued a Class II license by the town ... he then applied for a state license, and was told he didn't qualify. It's not really the town's responsibility that he qualify for a state license."

Chairman Andrews said the "storing" or "displaying" of vehicles for sale at the Upland Way location "strikes me as contrary to the agreement this board had with Mr. Cestari."

"What I'm hearing is you are standing by your revocation of my license," Mr. Cestari said.

"We haven't revoked your license ... don't put words in my mouth," Selectman Lombard said. "We issued the license based on the neighborhood you're in. If you went back to an internet business with no cars located (onsite), that would be fine. But now you want six cars there."

"The only solution I see is to remove the vehicles from the site with the exception of those awaiting pickup or which have been sold," Chairman Andrews said. "I think if we can agree to go back to the terms of the license issued on March 29, there won't be a problem."

With that, the board unanimously voted to modify the existing Class II license held by Mr. Cestari by stipulating that "no more than two vehicles can be shown on the property for no more than 48 hours at a time (and) the existing signs be allowed to remain."

In other matters, the board:

• Met with Frances Cairnes to discuss the status of a request she made last year to look into establishing a Windpower Study Committee in Mattapoisett. The board agreed to move forward with this idea and asked that interested residents submit letters c/o Board of Selectmen,

Buzzards Bay Regatta

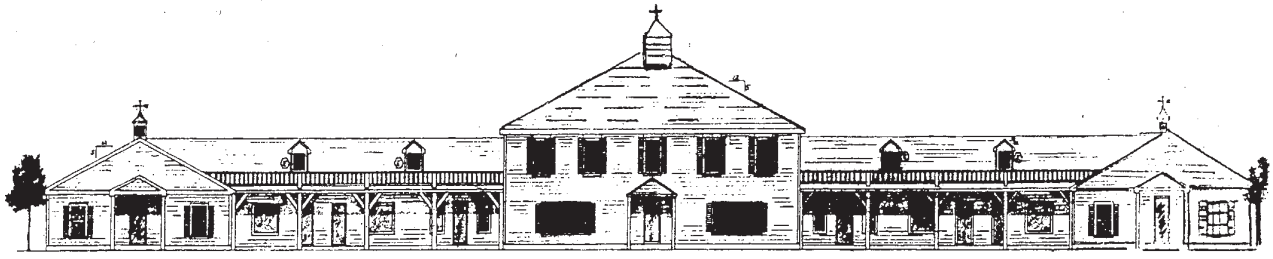

With over 460 boats entered, this year's Buzzards Bay Regatta (BBR) enjoyed one of the largest turnouts in its 32-year history. The weather provided sailors with a variety of challenging conditions from light air of 6 knots to gusts of 30 knots with the infamous Buzzards Bay chop.

"As in the past, the level of competition was terrific with national and international champions," said Ray Cullum, Chairman of BBR 2004. "We had racers come from all over — Dallas, Miami, San Francisco, Chicago and even Minnesota to compete along with our usual strong showing of East Coast entries. There were at least 10 college teams including MIT, Dartmouth, Boston College, Ithaca, Hobart and William Smith."

cane Charley said it would arrive by Sunday morning with heavy rain and SE winds gusting to 50 knots. With that prospect, four good, close races were run on Saturday and most of the fleet was dispersed to their home ports that evening. Racing for Sunday was canceled and prizes were awarded at the scheduled Saturday evening dinner at the MYC clubhouse. The results were: Warren Vose (Edgartown) in Moonglade, in a repeat for the 2003 champion, with two firsts (10 points); Rob Hurd (Tabor) in *Wendy with one first (12 points); C. David Burt (Quissett) in *Tag Along (12 points).

The team trophy for top three boats of one club went to the Buzzards Bay Yacht Club of Cataumet with the fourth, fifth and sixth place finishes. A special prize for the under 18 sailor with the top finish in the Senior races went to Max Thayer (Buzzards) in *Blue Moon (sixth place).

Although the expected high winds on Sunday didn't develop, another 3.5 inches of rain did arrive early Sunday morning. The Race Committee for the weekend included Fran Grenon, Don Bailey, Ed and Kathy Martens, Brian Lynch, and Dennis McLaughlin. Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The current campaign by the Mattapoisett Land Trust to raise $300,000 to purchase what is left of the Boardman property in the Aucoot area is as ambitious as it sounds.

But for the future of Mattapoisett, the preservation of this land is crucial to the vision of those who would like to see a greenway established from the Marion town line to Angelica Point.

While large gifts of money will help immensely in reaching that goal, we must not underestimate the support of those who can give but little.

The Land Trust hopes the community — including its summer residents — will come forward in great numbers in the next few days to show they really care.

Please know that your gift today — or a pledge for "tomorrow" — will last an eternity and will help our town environmentally as urban sprawl gains a stranglehold on many SouthCoast communities.

Sincerely,
Brad Hathaway

To the Editor:

Having watched the construction of Center School (in Mattapoisett) since its beginning, I noticed something the other day that disturbed me very much. I saw that the front doors of the 1898 building have been replaced. In my opinion, it changed the whole character of that wonderful old building. There must be a very good reason why this was done, and I'm anxiously waiting for an explanation.

Sincerely,
Franklin "Bronc" Caswell

To the Editor:

I'm writing this letter to notify all parents of children attending Center School (in Mattapoisett) this year that the safety of your children is in jeopardy.

I'm sure most parents are aware that a portion of Center School will be utilized by various town organizations. I don't believe that most parents are aware that there will be no "real" security measures implemented at the school to protect their children from non-school personnel. If an employee or visitor to one of the organizations signs in at the office, they will have full unescorted access to the entire school. Basically, the school will be open to the public.

In order to resolve a poorly-planned fiscal budget, it appears that the School Committee and School Administrators thought that allowing groups into the school to help pay the bills was a good idea. It seems that they never once seriously considered the well-being and safety of the children.

Per Center School regulations, prior to a parent volunteer helping out in the cafeteria or classroom, he/she must have a CORI check conducted by the Police Department. But per Mr. Murphy's new "Security Plan," as long as you are visiting one of the organizations, it's OK to roam the hallways and bathrooms of the school as long as you sign in at the front desk and wear a visitor's lanyard.

This "new" security plan is not a new plan at all. It is merely an addition to the school's original Security Plan. Visitors or volunteers to the school have been wearing badges, pins or lanyards for years. From my perspective, very little thought was given to controlling the multitude of new daily visitors to the school.

Since nobody except visitors wear lanyards, a visitor can take off their lanyard and look like any member of the school staff. This silly lanyard system doesn't add any value at all to the School's "Security Plan."

I've been in the security industry for over 20 years and I know that there were many security measures that could have been taken. The problem is that they all cost money. The one that was chosen by Mr. Murphy and team cost absolutely nothing. Should the safety of the town's children cost nothing?

I have relatives and friends (who) attend the school and I am concerned. If my child was attending Center School on September 1, I would not send her until they implemented a real "Security Plan." I saw a flyer about this subject from a concerned

Town Donations: Giving and Receiving

By Virginia Morgan

Then

Many times you have heard or read the expression "Mattapoisett is Special." Not only has the town and townspeople been the recipients of donations, but the town has generously given to outside causes.

As early as 1907 voters approved sending a donation as Mattapoisett's share of the construction of the New Bedford/Fairhaven Bridge. The funds donated were $1,200 including interest.

In 1916 voters approved sending $50 for the George Washington Building in Washington, DC. On May 31, 1919, at a Special Town Meeting, the sum of $200 was voted to go towards the erection of a fire tower in Acushnet.

In 1922 the sum of $65 was voted to place a stone in Pilgrim Monument in Provincetown. In 1928 the town paid $100 for a community Christmas tree. In more recent years, various town residents have donated trees from their property to be placed in Shipyard Park for the Christmas/New Years holidays.

At the height of World War I, the Mattapoisett Auxiliary of the American Red Cross in 1917 knitted sweaters, scarfs, socks and helmets with wool donated from public-spirited citizens and donated the articles to 33 members of the Mattapoisett platoon of the State Guard. Much of the work was done at Tinkhamtown and by the summer colonies at Point Connett and Antassawamock Neck.

Now

Summer residents Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Shoolman in 1913 donated the new fiberglass flagpole at the front of the Mattapoisett Town Hall to replace one that blew down. IN 1991, Mrs. Shoolman, in memory of her husband, donated the fiberglass flagpole on the Church Street side of the Center School grounds.

Noting important donations made by the Mattapoisett Lions Club should be acknowledged that have benefited the town and the townspeople with many worthwhile projects; including in 1975 the rescue boat; and, at other times, the tennis courts and playground at Center School; the shade shed at Ned's Point, and the gazebo at Shipyard Park. In 1977 an ambulance, costing about $36,000, was donated anonymously to the town.

Former Selectman John N. DeCosta, who has spent many years helping others, built many of the benches at Shipyard Park, placed there in memory of loved ones.

The most recent donations are being made by the newly-formed Tree Planting Committee, a Selectmen-appointed committee led by Landscaper/Nurseryman Charles Duponte. Residents who wish to have loved ones remembered may donate funds to have a tree planted in their name. With the gradual disappearance of the large trees from Mattapoisett's landscape, this will be a good way to retain Mattapoisett's "being special."

Afterthought

When Mattapoisett donated to the construction of the New Bedford/Fairhaven Bridge, aren't you glad we didn't have to also share in the cost of repair jobs that have been so frequent in the more recent years?

Mattapoisett Land Meeting

An Open House and Informational Meeting about the proposed purchase of the Boardman family land for conservation purposes will be hosted next Thursday evening, August 26, by the Mattapoisett Land Trust. Anyone who has an interest in land preservation and the future of Mattapoisett is welcome at the gathering at 7:00 pm at the Mattapoisett Friends Meeting Hall, rear of 103 Marion Road (Route 6) in Mattapoisett. Refreshments will be served.

The Mattapoisett Land Trust is in the middle of a $300,000 fund-raising campaign to purchase three parcels of Boardman land totaling 59.55 acres. Each parcel abuts previously donated conservation land the trust has held for several years.

During the informational meeting, large maps of the area will be available for viewing and questions will be answered.

The Boardman land includes a 14.8-acre lot fronting on Hollywoods and Aucoot Roads. Eight homes were planned for that site. A 20.5-acre parcel fronting on Aucoot Road was the planned site for a cellular phone tower. Both of these lots abut the Coyne Preserve, 17 acres of woodland between Hollywoods and Bowman Roads given to the Land Trust years ago.

The third Boardman parcel constitutes 24.8 acres and has frontage on Bowman Road. It abuts the 96-acre trust property donated by Ruth Hiller Martocci.

Valued at $600,000 by an independent appraiser, the Boardman land has been offered to the trust at half that price, or $5,000 an acre. An option to purchase must be exercised by the Land Trust by September 15.

Donations of cash and appreciated securities toward the purchase price, and pledges for gifts that might be forthcoming after the middle of next month, should be sent to the Mattapoisett Land Trust, P.O. Box 31, Mattapoisett, MA 02739, or may be brought to the informational meeting. All donations are tax deductible.

Identity Amendment Implemented

State Representative William Straus (D-Mattapoisett) announced this week that beginning in October the Registry of Motor Vehicles (RMV) will no longer allow drivers who renew their licenses online to use their social security numbers as their license number. This effort by the RMV is intended to protect drivers from the growing problem of identity theft and is being undertaken as a result of language inserted in the Fiscal Year 2005 budget by Representative Straus.

"Currently, a large number of Massachusetts drivers use their social security number as a license number," said Representative Straus. "This is a risky practice because a social security number is so closely tied to important personal information, which in the wrong hands can be used to commit fraud."

Once the change is implemented in October, drivers who renew their licenses online will be assigned a random "S" number as a license number. Drivers who wish to continue to use their social security number will be required to renew at a full-service RMV location.

Representative Straus has been a leader in the Legislature in the area of consumer privacy. He was the original sponsor and proponent of successful legislation establishing the Massachusetts "Do Not Call" list limiting telemarketers. He has lobbied to protect the social security numbers of Massachusetts citizens in order to reduce their chances of becoming victims of identity theft. In addition to driver's licenses, Representative Straus has worked to keep social security numbers off of college identification cards and insurance cards.

"Identity theft can be devastating and take years to recover from," Representative Straus said. "By limiting the use of social security numbers, I'm hopeful that we can reduce the chances of Massachusetts residents becoming victims of this fraud."

Movie Review

Paris Pair

By Rob Gonsalves
http://robsreviews.cjb.net

Before Sunset*. Starring Ethan Hawke and Julie Delpy. Directed by Richard Linklater. Running time: 80 minutes. MPAA rating: R.

At the end of the small, enchanting Before Sunrise (1995), Jesse (Ethan Hawke) and Celine (Julie Delpy), who have randomly met and had one of those long, lyrical nights of talk and love, promise each other that they will meet back in Vienna in six months. The follow-up film, Before Sunset, will tell you whether they did or didn't meet up, but far more important is who they became. The Before films, as they will probably come to be called, were both directed by Richard Linklater, an amiably and gently experimental filmmaker who specializes in small moments that reveal more than most big-budget Hollywood movies do. Linklater was 34 when he made the first film, 43 when he shot the second. He was already pretty mature and smart about relationships nine years ago, but Before Sunset shows an even deeper maturation.

Jesse, it turns out, is a published novelist; his book This Time, based on his own experiences in the first film, has come out to acclaim and decent sales (probably a warmer reception than Ethan Hawke's own stabs at fiction have gotten). Concluding a reading and Q&A at a Paris bookshop, Jesse spots a familiar face across the room — Celine, who has come to listen and who, it so happens, has read the book and approves. "I don't usually like romantic stuff," she says, "but, um ... it was well-written, though!" Almost immediately, they fall back into their old verbal rhythms from nine years ago. They enjoy each other's company, but something is eating at both of them. Nine years have taken a toll; they've lived a lot of life since they were moonstruck 22-year-olds on holiday in Vienna, and they are different people now. Their reunion brings this home rather painfully.

Celine works as a political activist, and her more relevant life (in Jesse's view) puts his comfortable novelist's life to shame. She can't keep a boyfriend; he is married with a son, and we learn, a little conveniently, that he isn't terribly fulfilled in the marriage. But the question in Before Sunset is not whether Jesse and Celine will get back together; as in the first film, Linklater is much more interested in how the two relate to life now, which areas of their soul have been toughened up and which have remained soft and vulnerable. These films are too stubbornly garrulous and too probing to settle for storybook romance. Before Sunset is like revisiting an old favorite novel in which, unbeknownst to you, a new epilogue has been added. We're more than happy to hear Jesse and Celine talking again.

The pair wander around Paris, parrying on such topics as sex, politics, and expectations of life. Anyone expecting a conventional plot, as some people at the screening I attended apparently were, will grow restless: Linklater gives you the moments that happen when other movies aren't looking. Before Sunrise, filmed when both Hawke and Delpy had a little more meat on their bones, was a delicate ode to the passions of mind and heart. Hawke and Delpy look skinnier here (particularly Hawke, who borders on gaunt), as if the indulgences of their student years had been carved away. They don't act here so much as exist within the characters they have created. The movie is smoothly filmed in "real time," following the two through talk and silence, yet never dragging.

Before Sunset is a gemlike minimalist triumph — deeper and more provocative than its predecessor, which had the questions of youth on its mind. The new film has no answers, and suggests that questioning minds will never stop. I have to agree with the many fans of both films: These two flawlessly shaped movies are sufficient for me, but the prospect of Jesse and Celine running across each other again in 2013 is undeniably alluring (as long as the entire creative team returns). Linklater could have an art-house franchise here comparable to Satyajit Ray's Apu Trilogy or François Truffaut's Antoine Doinel series. If he's satisfied with these bookend Sunrise/Sunset films, though, so am I.

36 transport ships. During the raid houses, ships and business places in New Bedford, Acushnet and Fairhaven were ransacked and burned. The fort at Nolscot Point in Fairhaven, now called Fort Phoenix, was destroyed by British troops. It took years for the local waterfront industries to recover from the raid of September 5 and 6, 1778.

On Saturday and Sunday, September 11 and 12, 2004, members of the Fairhaven Village Militia and guests will remember the British attack during a weekend encampment at Fort Phoenix. Men, women and children dressed in period clothing will reenact life in 1778 and talk about the history of the fort. They will also be demonstrating campfire cooking, loading and firing muskets, knife and tomahawk throwing, children's games and more.

The highlight of the weekend will be the firing of the fort's five cannons, scheduled for dusk, about 7:30 pm, on Saturday. When fired after dark, the cannons' plumes of flames and smoke make a spectacular sight.

INNER VIEWS

Family Matters

By Kenneth J. Souza
news@wanderer.com

There's been a noticeable shift in Jonathan Henry's demeanor since he was first elected to the Marion Board of Selectmen earlier this year. The happy-go-lucky, let's-get-to-work attitude of a newly-elected man on a mission has been replaced in the last few weeks by a somewhat sullen and melancholy mood. He still offers a firm handshake and a smile when he greets you, but you can sense a dark cloud hanging over him that's hard to shake.

Things changed for Mr. Henry on June 30, when his son James H. Henry was seriously injured while riding his motorcross cycle in Newark, NY. Formerly of Marion and now living in Macedon, NY, the younger Mr. Henry is currently undergoing treatment at Strong Memorial Hospital in Rochester, NY for neck and spinal cord injuries sustained in the accident. While the prognosis is guarded, at best, Mr. Henry said he's been trying to stay positive in light of the circumstances.

The Marion town official admitted "James" was always "an adventurous kid" who loved to tinker with engines and all-things-mechanical. In fact, James first caught the "bug for trail biking" after his brother gave him a broken-down Honda bike which he fixed himself, dutifully following the specs from a repair manual. "He went right by the book ... and did it all with his own money," Mr. Henry beamed. "I have to say he was a craftsman."

The skills young James honed would come to bear when he eventually followed in his father's footsteps to work in the Heating, Ventilation and Air Conditioning (HVAC) field, first for his dad here in Marion and then moving on to Aeroquip in upstate New York so his wife Tara could be closer to her family. "He kept himself educated ... (and) went to specialty schools to learn technical aspects of the trade," Mr. Henry said.

Always adventurous, Mr. Henry said James first rode on motorcross tracks as an amateur even before moving to New York and then last year he upgraded to a more powerful bike "designed for heavy-duty motorcrossing." It was on this bike that James had his accident in June.

"I'm not happy with the fact he did this, but it was his choice," Mr. Henry said. "He approached it with a lot of study and caution. He was starting to win races and make a name for himself. He just lost control in a relatively minor situation and ended up landing on his neck. He was aware of the risks, but he wasn't afraid to take them."

Mr. Henry said he got the bad news late that night from Tara's mom, Jackie. "They live nearby, so they were the ones to get the initial call," he said. "It was upsetting, but I attempted to get as much information as I could."

Mr. Henry then had the unsettling task of relaying the information to James' mother, Sheila Carley of Stanley, VA, along with his two brothers and two sisters.

"His mother is a Buddhist nun (and) lives in a Buddhist colony," Mr. Henry said. "I ended up calling a local sheriff to get in touch (with her). At that point, we weren't sure he was going to survive."

A former member of the Marion Fire Department, Mr. Henry had nothing but the highest praise for the volunteers of the Fairfield Fire Department who were first on scene and apparently did everything right to ensure James didn't sustain further injury. "(They) called a Life Flight to come to the scene and flew out to Rochester, NY where the regional trauma center is," Mr. Henry said. "They picked him up and brought him back to Strong Memorial Hospital. It was fortunate that his first stop was there."

Mr. Henry described his son's "complete" spinal cord injury as a "high injury between the third and fourth vetebrae. His cord was not transected, but it was (damaged)." Mr. Henry said the resulting injury "short circuits" other motor functions — most notably, the respiratory system which now requires a machine to physically expand and contract his lungs and stave off fluid buildup. But even after three surgical operations, James remains partially paralyzed and confined to a hospital bed.

"His outlook is still about the same, (but) the good news is he hasn't lost any mobility ... which means there hasn't been further degradation of the spinal cord," Mr. Henry said.

Although James' condition is stable for the time being, he will probably have to undergo lengthy rehabilitation in the weeks and months ahead, and Mr. Henry's eyes well up a bit when he thinks of what could have been a far worse scenario.

"The boys are taking it harder than the girls," he said of James' siblings. "It reminds them of their own mortality, I guess. The girls are a bit more philosophical about it. They see he's going to recover, and he's going to get better. They see past the obstacles along the way."

Mr. Henry is convinced his son is strong enough to overcome this obstacle and points to a key motivation: James' first child — a baby daughter named Jacqueline — whom Tara delivered last weekend. Both the proud parents and eight-time grandfather have now seen and spent time with the newest member of the Henry family.

To that end, Mr. Henry said a series of fund-raising efforts have been organized in Marion to help the young family. "We've established an account at Plymouth Savings Bank ... to provide finances for their living expenses, and only their living expenses," he said. "The state and federal governments have benefits available ... in terms of long-term disability, (but) it takes months to get that in place. Our objective is to meet their immediate financial needs — not medical treatment."

A Giant Yard Sale to Benefit James H. Henry will also take place on Saturday, August 28 and Sunday, August 29 on Washburn Lane in Marion from 8:00 am to 3:00 pm. Space is available either day for $20/day or $35 for both. There will also be a food sale and silent auction. Please call Eunice at 508-317-2325 to arrange for a space or to drop off donations.

"I'm also going to ride my bike from Buffalo, NY to Marion and people are going to pay me by the mile," Mr. Henry said. An avid biker since 1989 when he began the activity to complement running, Mr. Henry said he expects to cover the 525-mile trek in about seven days. He recently completed the PanMass Challenge, a 200-mile bike-a-thon from Sturbridge to Provincetown to benefit the Jimmy Fund, and he's also biked 1500 miles from Fort Myers, FL to Baltimore, MD.

"I average about 100 miles a day riding," he said. "I don't run anymore."

Mr. Henry appreciates all the prayers and support the family has received to date and he's impressed with how people in the tri-town area continually reach out to those in need.

"I certainly am profoundly thankful for all the church organizations, the Fire Department, the town government (in Marion) across the board, my customers, and the residents — they've responded very well in expressing concern and helping us meet (James') needs. It certainly makes us all grateful we're from a community like Marion."

it was a complete success," said Tourism Director Christopher Richard. "Hundreds of people visited over the course of two days. We taught spectators how to throw a tomahawk and showed them how cooking fires were lighted without matches. Basically, the group is depicting camp living during the Revolutionary War period. There will be regular demonstrations of musket firing, but there will be no large-scale battle re-enactments."

Both the cannon firing and the overnight encampment will be cancelled in the event of rain. Weather-permitting, the militia will be at the fort from 10:00 am Saturday until about 3:00 pm on Sunday.

SALOME'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A chaotic atmosphere taxes the patience of the Aries Lamb, who prefers to deal with a more orderly environment. Best advice: Stay out of the situation until things settle.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Tension runs high in both personal and workplace relationships. This can make it difficult to get your message across. Best to wait until you have a more receptive audience.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) This is a good time to take a break from your busy schedule to plan for some well-deserved socializing. You could get news about an important personal matter by the week's end.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) An offer of help could come just when you seem to need it. But be careful about saying yes to anything that might have conditions attached that could cause problems down the line.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Sometimes a workplace colleague can't be charmed into supporting the Lion's position. That's when it's time to shift tactics and overwhelm the doubter with the facts.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) You continue to earn respect for your efforts to help someone close to you stand up to a bully. But be careful that in pushing this matter you don't start to do some bullying yourself.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Don't ask others if they think you're up to a new responsibility. Having faith in your own abilities is the key to dealing with a challenge. P.S.: That "private" matter needs your attention.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) This is a good time to use that Scorpian creativity to come up with something special that will help get your derailed career plans back on track and headed in the right direction.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) While change is favored, it could be a good idea to carefully weigh the possible fallout as well as the benefits of any moves before you make them.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) The Goat continues to create a stir by following his or her own path. Just be sure you keep your focus straight and avoid any distractions that could cause you to make a misstep.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A colleague's demands seem out of line. But before reacting one way or another, talk things out and see how you might resolve the problem and avoid future misunderstandings.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) A personal matter appears to be making more demands on your time than you feel you're ready to give. See if some compromise can be reached before things get too dicey.

BORN THIS WEEK: You're able to communicate feelings better than most people. Have you considered a career in the pulpit or in politics?
